

IT Consulting – A Must For Every Company’s Technology Needs

Today, due to the amazingly rapid growth in the technology industry, IT consultants are in huge demand. Many companies spend millions to hire professional IT consultants for all their technology needs. But watch out! There are plenty of scams around, who are looking to rip you off and make a quick buck. So you want to be careful when screening an IT consultant.

Here are 3 warning signs that are a sure-fire indicator of a SCAM:-

- They charge unusually high or unbelievably low rates.
 - They are reluctant to sign a contract.
 - They don’t provide you with sufficient samples and testimonials of their previous work.
- So if potential consultants display any one of the above signs, it might be a good idea to drop them, and concentrate on going for the most genuine and skilful IT consultant/s instead.
